

Allowing satellite radio broadcasts offer local content is no different than allowing nationally syndicated cable television broadcasts like the Weather Channel offer local forecasts on their cable networks. I prefer to receive this local information in a pay per listen format instead of having this content accompanied by commercial advertisements. Let the marketplace and consumers decide how they want to receive this local content, NOT broadcaster lobbyists and government regulation... Philip Holden